Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from A Report on the Condition of the Freedmen of the Mississippi: Presented to the Western Sanitary Commission, December 17th, 1863 The streets and alleys were all clean and well swept, having good drainage and excellent police arrangements. The inside of the cabins was cleanly, and an air of comparative comfort prevailed. The inmates were generally well clothed, and were cheerful and contented. This was one of the earliest camps formed, and its convenient and easy access to the city has caused it to be more bountifully supplied with clothing and other necessities than the camp on Presidents Island. Captain Hay, of Seventh Tennessee Infantry, is in charge. A full corps of teachers has been sent to this camp, at the head of which is Mr. Stephens, Missionary, assisted by his brother, Miss Fannie Kiddo, Miss Henry, Miss Johnson, and Mrs. Stephens. They had been engaged in their work comparatively but a short time, and spoke of being much encouraged by the interest manifested on the part of their scholars. About one hundred and sixty were...
