Pursuant to a congressional request, GAO reviewed the draft strategic plan submitted by the Department of Transportation (DOT), as required by the Government Performance and Results Act of 1993. GAO noted that: (1) DOT has undertaken a significant amount of work collecting and analyzing information while preparing its draft strategic plan; (2) the plan, however, does not reflect enough of this information and, overall, is so general that clearly identifying DOTs priorities is difficult; (3) the plan does not meet the acts requirements to describe: (a) strategies for achieving DOTs long-term goals; (b) a linkage between DOTs long-term goals and annual performance goals; and (c) those key external factors that could significantly affect DOTs achieving its goals; (4) DOTs draft strategic plan appears to reflect the Departments key statutory authorities; (5) however, because the plan lacks precision, these statutory authorities are reflected at a very high level of generality; (6) the plan does not show evidence that the Department coordinated with other agencies that have programs and activities that are crosscutting or similar to DOTs; (7) the plan recognizes that there...

This book is definitely not simple to begin on studying but quite fun to see. I actually have read and that i am sure that i will gonna read through yet again once again in the foreseeable future. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
